The Faculty Play Hits the Stage! (But not literally)

Story by Emilio Ovalle, Theo Dankoff, and Myles Roche

On Friday, October 2nd, with an audience of all students and a stage full of teachers, the faculty play began. Ms. McBee (the tour guide) started it off with Mrs. Ziffer (crazy camera lady) and NEW Mrs. Corsaro (other tourist) as they embarked on a JOURNEY (that's the fall theme!)

First they went to Korea, and met Ms. Roche and she joined them. Then they saw Mrs. Lewis and Ms. Gregg. They were going on a road trip but their car broke down so they gave them a lift. They went to outer space next and met an alien, and then to the rain forest where they tried to talk a lumberjack (Mrs. Clough) out of chopping down a tree (Mr. Warley). They joined a protest led by Ms. Tedesco, the activist.

Finally, they went to Mt. Olympus where they met Aphrodite, Hera and Athena. Odysseus (Mr. Denton) got a pie in the face from Poseidon (Ms. Will). "The opportunity to throw a pie in Mr. Denton's face made my week," said Ms. Will.

Well, that was it. For more information, watch it on Vimeo: <https://vimeo.com/185995680>

The LIGHT LAB Officially Opens

Story by Michael Crutchlow

On Friday, October 21st, the ribbon-cutting ceremony for the Ulmer Family Light Lab took place. Mr. Sellers gave a speech about Mr. and Mrs. Ulmer and the Light Lab. Rich and Bev Ulmer were there for the event.

Mr. READ was flying a drone over the carpool area and took pictures. Afterwards, the students decorated wooden disks and made them into a sculpture in front of the Light Lab. It looks like everyone is VERY excited to create things in our new MAKERSPACE.
